Thousands Battle Blazes in Forests Of Maritimes

By British United Press
Thousands of weary fire-fighters continued their non-stop struggle today to halt forest fires in 12 separate areas of eastern Nova Scotia in a supreme effort to avert off disaster for the province's multi-million dollar lumber industry.

A 15-mile wall of flame bore down towards the coast from picturesque Coma Lake to the Halifax-Colchester County border, as the largest blaze raged out of control through forest country.

A wind shift last night checked the fire's surge towards the little town of Shere Harbor on the coast, 30 miles northeast of Halifax, but the fire continued to eat its way through forest lands further north.

FOG BLANKET
Fog blanketed the threatened area this morning, making it more difficult for the firefighters to stem the rearing flames. No rain was in sight for the province for the next 24 hours, weathermen said.

More than 2,000 men were thrown into the battle on a 50-mile perimeter north of Halifax this morning, many rushed by all available planes and trucks to the threatened areas yesterday.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—Jimmy Cannon, sports columnist of the New York Post, said today in a copyrighted column that Ted Williams, baseball's highest paid player, intends to ask Boston Red Sox to trade him, preferably to Detroit Tigers.

"Boston's astute and abusive baseball fanbase probably have succeeded in running Ted Williams out of town," Cannon wrote. "It is his hope that this is the last year with the Red Sox. At the end of the season, I can exclusively and positively report today, Williams intends to ask the Red Sox to trade him. His choice is Detroit. Only Detroit, Cleveland, and the Yankees could afford to employ him."

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UPI)—H. H. Hewelson, chairman of Imperial Oil Limited, said today that Canada is now "entering her period of greatest growth."

In an address to the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York here, he asserted that the benefits of the rich new oil discoveries in Alberta, plus new discoveries of valuable iron, "will spread throughout Canada more quickly than is generally realized."

Through its rapid mechanized development in the first half of this century, he added, "Canada is in an ideal position to fully utilize these benefits. She has had all the blessings of mechanization except the important one of a domestic source of hydrocarbon fuels. Now that she has that source, Canada should expand at a more accelerated pace."

HUGE SUPPLY
Hewelson pointed out that some geologists believe that the oil coming from the interior plateau region of Canada will exceed 3,000,000,000 barrels.

May Total Biggest For Any One Month.

Three new all-time records have already been set by Edmonton's 1950 construction program.

May's $5,013,939 total for all building permits has shattered previous records for any month in the city's history.

The May program has pushed the cumulative total for the first five months past last year's all-time high for the same period.

And the $5,088,000 in permits for house-building issued during May has broken the record for any month.

Announcing the figures today, Acting City Architect and Building Inspector Robert Duke pointed out that the $3,000,000 increase in May, 1960, is equivalent to what was considered a healthy construction month in pre-war times.

The year's total to date now stands at $14,286,154 as of May 31, 1960.

LAST YEAR'S TOTAL
Total permits issued during May of last year were $3,545,904.

Permits for houses issued during May of last year were $1,844,000 below May of this year, at $3,903,900.

Despite the new records hung up so far, the total of housing permits issued this year stands $27,852 below the first five months of 1949.

Household worth $200,000 has been authorized in 1960, compared with $8,394,452 to May 31, 1949.

Box Collections Set New Mark
Collection of city property taxes during May shot 42 per cent ahead of the same time last year, to set a new record.

They brought the year's total collections to $4,468,029, or $817,187 more than the corresponding period of 1949, according to City Assessor and Tax Collector J. A. Macdonald.

Collections during May totaled $1,929,975, compared with $1,358,428 in the same month last year.

For a Cleaner City

If the city is sincere in its determination to maintain a higher standard of cleanliness and tidiness in Edmonton, it will seek again to secure from the provincial legislature the right to forbid dumping up of movable rubbish on private property.

With all the best equipment and skill in the world, it will be impossible to keep Edmonton's streets clean if every high wind blows dirt and debris from private premises.

The city did seek such powers from the provincial legislature a few years ago. But the request was denied because the legislature held to the high-sounding principle that every man's house was his castle where he should be permitted to conduct himself as he pleased.

It is an essentially sound principle. And no one wants to confer powers on any civil government that will permit it to trespass in any degree on the civil rights of the subject.

Clearly, the legislature's interpretation of that principle, with respect to ordinary cleanliness, was rather absurdly overdrawn.

In the ordinary course of events, it is usually held that the sanctity of personal rights with regard to property somewhat disappears when the maintenance of private rights encroaches upon the personal rights of others.

For example, if Citizen A keeps his garden and grounds clean and raked and free from dandelions, he is justified in appealing for legal aid against the negligence of Citizen B whose unweeded lawn piles up in A's yard and whose unchecked dog fouls the reseed with this pest, the clean lawn of A.

In short, B's personal rights do not include the privilege of making a nuisance of himself to A.

This interpretation is used freely in other civil law dealing with practices that could become a nuisance.

Thus, there are restrictions on the establishment of stables, the keeping of pigeons and the maintenance of goats within the city limits.

Fur-bearing animals cannot be kept in the city except on special permit. You can't keep more than two chickens and these only if they live under "sanitary" conditions.

The zoning bylaw prohibits "any use which may be obnoxious by reason of smell, dust, smoke, gas or noise or vibration."

Clearly, the liberty of the subject in regard to committing nuisances is invaded in dozens of ways every day.

In what way does goat-keeping differ from the harboring of vermin?

If goat-keeping can be regulated, so should the city have power to forbid the accumulation of rubbish on private premises which eventually litter the public highways.

The provincial legislature made a poor decision. The city should try again.

Leave Night Garage Service Open

In dealing with applications of garages for the privilege of giving an all night service, the city council is endeavoring to solve problems that do not actually exist.

If the council would completely withdraw from the control of garage hours of service, the economic law of supply and demand would straighten out the whole difficulty in a few months.

For instance, representatives of the Automotive Trade Association, opposing these applications, told council that every station that is open at night is losing money on its night operation.

It seems unreasonable, then, to oppose more night stations because competition would mean nothing to businesses that are losing money.

Competition can't take away profit where there is no profit to be reduced.

There is, of course, a certain amount of night service required in Edmonton.

Who shall supply that service and under what terms and circumstances are points that should be left strictly to the operators themselves.

When council seeks to make a rule about it, it council merely interferes with the operation of economic law.

Naturally, it is reasonable for council to indicate the public. That is to say, if a station indicates a desire to give a night service, it should be compelled to give that service for a specific period, and not for a period of a few motorists won't find a station open one night and closed the next.

But beyond this protection, council would do well to attempt no regulation at all.

Removal of the numerical restriction of taxicab licences was a forward step.

Removal of the numerical restriction on night stations would be equally commendable.

To Relieve Truck Congestion

There is no excuse at all for the flare of impatience directed at Town Planner Noel Dant, during a meeting of the finance committee over the plan to increase street loading and truck congestion in the city's warehouse district.

The dispute was precipitated by the application of H. V. MacCoshan for approval of his plan to institute a saw-tooth angle parking arrangement under which three trucks could be parked side ed without projecting over the property line more than six feet.

Both the mayor and Mr. Dant agreed that Mr. MacCoshan's plan was an improvement on current bylaw requirements but Mr. Dant declared that a general survey of congestion in the warehouse district should be made and an overall plan developed to relieve it.

Whereupon, Mr. Dant was accused of "fooling around" with "less important matters" and neglecting the vital matter of truck congestion.

It was a most unfair criticism because every application of town planning in Edmonton is of vital importance to the town planner's department, trimmed for economy, cannot deal with them all at once.

Removal of the restriction should be made and a general plan devised.

It would be neither scientific nor sensible to snatch at the first suggestion that comes along in these cases as a means of trying to satisfy everybody.

In town planning, the greatest good of the greatest number is the first consideration.

Mr. Dant does well to stick to it.

We Love Miss Columbia

But No Marriage Please

Away back in 1911, a United States senator named Champ Clark asked a decided cooling of Canadian-American relations by getting up in congress and moving that this country be annexed to the United States.

This proposal so chilled the political hearts of Canadians of that day that they administered a rebuff to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reciprocity bill which would have WEIR established reciprocal trade tariffs between the United States and the United States.

As a matter of fact, I never heard of a single American who was intelligent enough to take the view, quite properly, that their country is already too large for their government and the acquiring Canada, they would not be acquiring another head-

Another Blunder

One of the things that I have heard of late is a reference to the fact that the United States is a country that is a "melting pot" of different races and nationalities.

I call it a "melting pot" because it is a place where people from different parts of the world come together and live together.

But no matter how many Canadians may love Americans, they will never stand together and understand each other without political union, then there is not much hope for co-operation anywhere in the world.

This is a definite fact of Canadian viewpoint. It is no condemnation of the American viewpoint.

But it is an unqualified assertion that the two are almost unbridgeable far apart.

Basically, it is a Canadian way of life and the Canadian way of life are profoundly opposed no matter how similar they may appear on the surface.

This country has a conception of justice, for example, that is quite unlike the current conception in the United States.

But the most vital difference lies in opposing views of the power and function of money.

So do not refer to differing monetary theories in an economic discussion. There can always be reconciled.

So I feel there would be peace in people's hearts that would not cause much immorality. On the other hand, slave labor camps would be immoral.

That would make the people of the government immoral. In fact, they are. The Deans claim there are no slaves in any. We have here penitentiaries for lawbreakers and I

Much To Be Said For Periodic Pay Hikes

The recent General Motors wage agreement reportedly contains a provision for four per cent wage increase each year for the next five years. An earlier labor report indicated that in most industries the normal increase in production, because of improved methods, would run from two to four per cent per year.

A superficial study of the outlook of most workers will prove conclusively that the most depressing feature of any kind of employment is the situation where there is no prospect of any increase in wage for the rest of one's working days, and this is true whether it is a high-paying job or the bottom range.

Monotony is deadly in any form, and a wage rate that does not go up higher points can cause greater dissatisfaction than almost any employment problem today.

The result is that unions demand wage increases around the board in order to prove to their new members that there is a limit to the cost of living so dangerously.

Technological Link Seen

Some take this human desire and combine it with our normal rate of technical improvement. It is not possible to make use of the one to satisfy the other?

The solution becomes a simple matter of deciding how much of this wage will increase automatically by two, three or whatever per cent you like, large, but mounts up with increasing speed.

It is not a new idea. A worker will not have a dream of looking forward to his pay envelope. Instead, he will be able to see his future income rising steadily, year after year, so long as he works faithfully.

Such a system provides a security in pay that rewards the employee of long standing. It would also be the crimping effect of a flat uniform increase for all workers regardless of ability, experience or length of service. There is another good reason for this. It is the fact that while it can be argued that technical advances do increase production, therefore make increases in pay feasible, those production advances do not apply equally to new and old employees.

Cases Where Not Economically Sound

This uniform increase to a like amount for all workers is economically unsound, since it means that in cases where there are a majority of long-term employees, the business might stand the added cost. It could not go so high as the majority of workers were new and inexperienced in the particular business.

Many industries do provide for periodic increases, but they usually end in a few years, and then the monotony begins. Another solution is to promote employees to higher-paying jobs, but where there is a limited number of these possibilities, it is often difficult to provide adequate rewards.

There are a few occupations where annual wage increases are provided regardless of what the employee does. In these cases, the employer determines what job an employee shall hold, but, regardless of the position, the particular work he will receive his annual increase and thus, assuming the employee's problem to be there in a job which will compensate him for the solution.

There is, of course, no means for knowing what would be a reasonable amount for the increase. If more attention could be paid to the providing of a reasonable annual increase in pay, the problem of periodic increases of satisfactory service rather than upon group demands, would be much better satisfied.

Can Your Neighbor Be A Murderer?

One night last week the Detective and I sat over dinner. The talk had turned to violent deals.

"Been a homicide man now for over 20 years," he said.

"Murder, manslaughter, suicide all routine. Like adding figures in a book. Nothing more. Still I have an obsession about capital crime."

"An obsession?" I prodded.

"Yes," the Detective said, thoughtfully.

"I've been a detective, I know how many murderers are talking about a few men—and what they did with their bodies."

"Surely," I said, "rarely murder is executed successfully."

"Not a bit of it," the Detective said. "I could successfully round down murders, myself. Murderers without a trace. And never a murder in the history of the law."

Either in the act or in disposing of the remains. Ever hear of the Perseus Bureau?"

"Yes," I said, "rarely murder is executed successfully."

"Not a bit of it," the Detective said. "I could successfully round down murders, myself. Murderers without a trace. And never a murder in the history of the law."

Either in the act or in disposing of the remains. Ever hear of the Perseus Bureau?"

"Yes," I said, "rarely murder is executed successfully."

New Nation Gets Canada Assurance

Liaquat Fulfills Main Ambition By Visit to Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 1.—(RUP)—Canada has given Pakistan definite assurance of its willingness to help the new Commonwealth fulfill the spread of Communist Imperialism, informed sources said today.

Usually reliable government circles said Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan was assured of that when he met members of the Canadian cabinet in a private session yesterday.

The promise was believed to have fulfilled one of Liaquat's main ambitions on his five-day Canadian visit—to encourage Canada to take a more active part in foreign affairs.

Trade also was discussed at the cabinet meeting. It was reported The Pakistani prime minister made it clear in the talks that he wanted to build up more active commercial relations between both countries.

Both of the Pakistan appeals fell on anything but deaf ears among Canada's cabinet members.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, who returned from Atlantic City yesterday, was in time for the talks, previously had emphasized Canada's increasing importance role in foreign affairs both politically and commercially.

SPEAK'S SESSION

Liaquat's meeting with the cabinet came just three hours before he went before a special assembly of parliament to accept his post of the Indian sub-continent.

He appealed to a joint session of the house and senate for recognition of the Commonwealth as a pattern for lasting peace.

The Commonwealth has great opportunities for raising the hopes of mankind, he said, "by ending war and aggression and the use of coercion or force as a method of settling disputes among its own members."

Federal House Starts 8-Hour Day To Speed Drive To Prorogation

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP)—The Commons today is scheduled to begin an eight-hour working day in its drive towards prorogation.

Three sittings—11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 11 p.m., replace the usual afternoon and evening sittings.

Still among the bulkier items to be tackled are estimates of expenditures on the various departments. The sittings are expected to be a lot smoother once these items are cleared up.

Before prorogation—some expect it to be the end of the month—members will probably be asked to consider the reports of several committees and of a half-dozen more government bills, including a measure to amend the Charter for Canada's Indians.

At an abbreviated sitting yesterday, members gave third reading to a bill extending provisions of the War Veterans Allowance Act to Imperial veterans now resident in Canada. Also adopted was a bill making minor amendments to the Canadian Grain Act and a measure extending application of the Criminal Code to the new province of Newfoundland.

Prefab Houses Not In Favor

TORONTO, June 1.—(CP)—The Dominion government has little faith in prefabricated homes, Mr. Gen. Hugh Young, vice-president of Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, said yesterday.

He told a service club meeting that "the idea hasn't worked because of complications with contractors and with subcontractors like plumbers and electricians. In addition, the houses are too cumbersome for mass shipping and too many people still must be taught that a 'prefab' is not a cheap, jerry-built affair."

High Standards and Pay Seen As Librarian Aim

Librarians should endeavour to raise and preserve their professional standards.

Highest salaries should be sought, conditions improved and vacations well earned.

This is what grey-haired, Mrs. Margaret Clay, Victoria Public Library, librarian, said in her meeting of Alberta Librarian Association last night.

The dinner was held in the University's Athabasca Hall, concluding the association's one-day annual conference held in the University's library.

"I think librarians have been altogether too meek," she retorted. "We have been filled with missionary zeal in some cases to greater than our education and professional standards."

Mrs. Clay gave a history of the development of the library service in British Columbia making special reference to the rural service.

MORAN OFF BASE

This operator eye was caught and knocked elliptical last night by a report from Toronto carried elsewhere on today's sports pages. In it, Robert Moran, manager of the Toronto Argonauts football team, was quoted as saying veteran Canadian grid teams are paying "fabulous salaries" which the Argos "couldn't begin to match."

But it is submitted here that Mr. Moran was talking through his hat. His proposal is plainly one of four groups.

Argonauts lost Royal Copeland to Calgary Stampede this year. And that is a loss they hardly could afford because Copeland is the best Canadian in his profession, that of ball-carrying.

Several other Argos plan to migrate elsewhere, among them Doug Fryer and Don Darrin. Both are signed to Canadian Rugby Union cards with Edmonton Eskimos.

Said Eskimo manager Al Anderson last night: "The west has always been a poor second to the east. We can compete on equal grounds, football, basketball, hockey, or any other sport, but in the football business, the Argos are paid by eastern clubs to be their players because they are 40 per cent higher than we can afford to pay."

There is little doubt that Argonauts could have paid Copeland more than that. They lost him, in essence, because of internal dissension, more than anything else.

EAST STARTED INFLATION
As for fabulous salaries, the records prove that the east started this inflation business. The Montreal Alouettes, for example, stepped out last year and guaranteed Frank Pinhook $25,000 for two years.

The same Alouettes opened their money bags and lured Rod Partridge and Pete Thodos away from Calgary this spring. These players, of whom you may have heard, carried the ball for 'the place' when Stampede won the dominion title in 1948.

Some Montreal players about east not being able to pay higher salaries than the west would appear to be the hottest air to come out of Toronto since Jim Brown's time.

Garneau Bowlers Have Busy Time
Garneau Lawn Bowling Club has arranged matches for tonight and tomorrow night.

SPEEDING across finish line well out in front is Canadian runner Bob MacFarlane, who topped 800 meter race at White City Stadium, London. In second place was Finland's D. Johansson (1) and third slot was filled by Scotland's J. S. Perry (6).

Canadian Track Standouts To Extend Stay Overseas

SNEAD, HOGAN MISS FORT WAYNE OPEN

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 1. — (CP) — Perfect golf weather was forecast for the Fort Wayne $15,000 Open today and the nation's top golfers were expected to have a field day over the short Orchard Ridge Country Club course.

There was no prohibitive favorites either, as "Hillbilly" Sammy Snead, the PGA's top money winner, and Bantam Ben Hogan decided to pass up the Fort Wayne tourney and take it easy for the National Open later this month at Ardmore, Pa.

Leafs Crack Down For 6-3 Triumph

The lightly-regarded Maple Leafs let everybody know they are to be reckoned with in the Junior Baseball league by crushing the once-mighty Canadians 6-3 at Clarke Stadium last night.

The win-Leafs' second in three starts—evils them into a second place tie with South Side, one game behind the first-place CNE crew.

The Leaf club entered the junior track this season as a distinct dark horse. Nearly every junior club selected CNE to break fast and hold the lead over South Side and Canadians, leaving Leafs and EAC sweating along in the rear.

EXPERTS CROSSED UP
In the early going the selectors have been right — except in the case of the Leafs. Manager Benny Klippenstein's Bluebirds have hung tough to date, making the leaders look to their laurels by displaying a commodity called "baser."

As it developed, starting pitcher Al Murrey was the only one they "chased" but Canadians came back before they got the side out.

"BIG" INNING
Nick Mandryk, Walter Lockhart and Matt Sehnagel each collected singles in the rally, Ed Zemro and Nick Knausich drew walks, and Canadians finally brought out three errors and a passed ball. By the time the top-south had settled again, Leafs had scored four runs and Murrey was frantically with soap and water in the showers.

They scored once in the third inning and got two more in the sixth. Leafs had added two more runs in the fifth to go with their earlier outburst and were never in serious difficulty.

'PHANTING' PHIL SCOTT STARTS ANEW

GLASGOW, Scotland, June 1. — (AP) — Phil Scott, 50-year-old former British heavyweight champion, sailed last night for Australia with his wife and four children "to begin life anew" as a farmer.

Scott, who fought many times in the great prizefights, is not giving up his interest in boxing.

"If I can find any promise in youngsters out there I will certainly take them in hand," he has held various jobs in Britain in recent years.

Rockie Don Wynn Stops Dodgers 8-3

Edmonton manager Ed Morris "loot" a player, then "found" one to make up, as the blubber-eaters dumped Dodgers 8-3 at Renfrew Park last night in a Big Four Baseball league attraction.

Just before "Empire-in-chief" Harry ("Turn Out the Lights") Ornest waded the athletes into action Morris received the news.

Ted Tappe, last season's first-base stopping sensation, was definitely lost to the club for this term.

It had been hoped by the Esk board of strategy that the elongated Tappe, who pounded Big Four league pitching for 15 homers in '49, would do a rake one his classes at Washington State University were over, with, something this month.

However a wire from Tappe's father-to-son Ducey, general manager of Esk, disclosed that the big fellow would not be back.

Now about the player "found" by Morris. It would be Lon (Lefty) Wynn. A 31-year-old collar-and-grass of the Junior loop. It was Wynn who handled the pitching chores for Eks last night.

After a downright wobbly delivery during which he walked five of the first seven hitters to face him, the rookie southpaw settled down and pitched himself an elegant ball game.

He rattled the league leaders to seven hits while turning back nine of them on strikes. Pet victim of his strikeball was Dodgers' center-fielder Harry Robershaw. The usually potent Robershaw went down swinging late in the ninth inning.

It was Ed Tapper hitting for the Canam. Ball-bawk as Dodgers went for the last time. Result: Wynn's ninth whiff-wit.

The lefties who were tolled for South Side Athletics last season, gave promise last night of earning recognition as a regular starter on the Esk mound staff.

He showed that Dodgers' lively bullpen and a curve that rolled off the table, as the saying is, were just what was needed to keep the boys from digging in.

Eks exploded for four runs in the third inning to just about wrap it up for keeps.

Singles by Len Karlin, Morris and outfielder Cliff Johnson, along with an error at second by Mike Melendy, set the Esk offense rolling.

Brookie later turched Dodge right-hander Ren Curby for a pair of triples to pace the win-hungry Eskimos.

Wynn reached his peak in the eighth as he retired the side on strikes.

Last night's was only the first of four games in which they had a winning streak of seven straight against as hostilities Gay under-way.

EDFA To Meet
Edmonton and District Football Association will hold a council meeting tomorrow night at 8:00 at the Recreation Commission.

All affiliated clubs are requested to have representatives present.

Speedway Kings Slice Sweet Melon
INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. — (AP) — A record prize of $57,458.63 was paid last night to Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif., for winning the 34th 500-mile speedway race.

It was the top prize out of a purse of $100,435 announced by the Indianapolis Motor Speedway at its victory dinner for the drivers.

The Speedway added a $50,000 bonus to its $75,000 guaranteed race purse.

Under that $123,000, the prize fund included $20,000 in qualification prizes, $13,600 in refunded entry fees and $1,850 in purses.

The champion also gets the "American" pace car victory trophies, a cocker spaniel pup, a set of tools, a ring, a portrait of himself, and four meals at an Indianapolis restaurant for a year.

The driver of the record melon, Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif., won the Fritton Proofing award.

Bill Holland, Miami, Fla., Blue Diamond, 8 P.M. 1 P.M. special, $12,800.63.

AGT's Bag Oilers
Alberta Government Telephone bought a 100-line trunk over Texas Exploration last night in a fast ball game.

Next game will be played Sunday, the Los Moe aggregation tangle with Singers at South Side Athletic Grounds.

And completing the 'triple' it was Len Williams' Fair in the fourth. Fair Ida, a swimmer in 1949, paid $425.50, one of the best prices of the meeting to date.

Pepper Pot started the parade of longshots in the second race when he beat $28.45.

Pepper captured the first of the two main races on the card when she caught the pace-setting Baby Broom at the final turn in the 4½ furlong Star of Asia and easily drew away to a 3½ length win. Baby Broom just lasted to save the place by a nose from Mandryk.

The second of the record melon, the Kink-Neon, went to Sierra Max who withstood a furious drive from the favored Bear Pat through the stretch and won by a nose in a photo finish. Bonaquid Belle was a distant third, six lengths back.

Quinnella paid $19.40.

St. Pats Race Ahead Of Senior Soccer Pack
Oliver St. Pats are perched on the dizzy (for them) heights of first place in the Senior Soccer league today.

For when they whitewashed RCAP 3-0 at Clarke Stadium.

One merely little bit in the sixth inning was all that prevented EAC's Richard Hamilton from pitching a no-hitter last night at Diamond Park.

It was Hamilton hurled his club to a 4-2 victory over Canadians for traveling expenses in the 1949-50 season.

CHICAGO — Teams in the United States Hockey league spent $192,283 for traveling expenses in the 1949-50 season.

Midway through the second half center forward Mike Kruper untracked a short ground ball into the RCAP cage to shoot Oliver ahead 2-0.

Some faint feedback by right half Stan Warenczyk was responsible for St. Pats' third territory. He matched the ball from several men deep in RCAP territory, but to have representatives present.

Pepper Pot started the parade of longshots in the second race when he beat $28.45.

Pepper captured the first of the two main races on the card when she caught the pace-setting Baby Broom at the final turn in the 4½ furlong Star of Asia and easily drew away to a 3½ length win. Baby Broom just lasted to save the place by a nose from Mandryk.

The second of the record melon, the Kink-Neon, went to Sierra Max who withstood a furious drive from the favored Bear Pat through the stretch and won by a nose in a photo finish. Bonaquid Belle was a distant third, six lengths back.

Quinnella paid $19.40.

CALGARY, June 1. — Edmonton owned horses provided a big draw for the crowds at Victoria Park here yesterday when "box" car payoffs featured the racing.

Mrs. M. Steward's Lady A.A. trained by Dave Jones, won the first race to inaugurate a $225.15 daily double.

Farmland Lady, property of Mrs. N. Stevenson, of the capital city, continued the trend in the third trip $22.25 return.

Some Bald 'Facts'

Bald "facts" from unique recipe for raising hair on bald pate:
Rub top of scalp with common table salt before retiring. Place pitcher of ice water beside pillow. Hairs buried beneath scalp get thrifty on account of salt working down through pores. Hairs get so thrifty they just have to come up for drink of water from pitcher.

When patient feels hairs reaching out for water in pitcher he rapidly ties knots in each. This prevents same from burrowing back under scalp after thirst has been quenched.

This amazing, sure-fire remedy is furnished absolutely free of charge by Bulletin Staff Photographer Eric Bland.

Bland obtained it from an aged Menzhevik who spent 67 years in a Siberian salt mine.

The Menzhevik made his hair raising discovery when his head jammed against the roof of a flooded salt mine shaft near Tomsk one night.

Stalin himself pardoned the veteran counter-revolutionist when it was reported to the Kremlin that the Menzhevik had wonderful titan-tinted locks.

"Now he's a real Red," declared Uncle Joe.

Used car dealer Frank Coulson says there's one big advantage enjoyed by bald men only.
"Your hair never stands on end when you're scared," Frank ought to know.

The War Is Over

The Campbells and MacDonalds have declared peace on each other over in Bonnie Scotland. And by the MacDonalds is meant all of 'em; the Macs, the MacPs, the MacDs and the MacEs.

Only reason I mention this bit of news is because we have a MacDonald working in our office who had sufficient Scottish patience to court all the MacDonalds and all the Campbells in the Edmonton city directory.

There are 475 MacDonalds of all spellings and 301 Campbells.

It's certainly a relief to learn those doughy clans have achieved the sword, isn't it?

As for the Irish, They haven't even asked for an armistice.

"Jawn" Ducey tells me he'd have his first million in the old sock if there were 5,000 fans as loyal as the following: Dr. A. F. Anderson, former superintendent of the Royal Alexandra Hospital, advertising salesman Bill MacKinnon, Harold and Mayne McNabb and coal salesman "Red" Morrison. These never miss a baseball game.

Roy Halburton, the car salesman, has a housing problem. Roy is "Joed" by the Eskimo Rugby Club to find accommodation for umpire huskies who will line up with Annie Stukus' grid squad this fall.

On behalf of my old friend Roy I hereby make this appeal in the name of football: Anybody got a spare room or attic for a football player?

If you have give Roy Halburton a jingle. He's slowly giving nuts.

A sympathetic goodnight to all and especially to fellows who worry about hair on their combs.

Fine Of $10 Imposed On Man Who Shot Dog

A West Jasper resident who allegedly shot a small brown mongrel dog with 27 shot gun pellets, was fined $10 and costs yesterday in Police Court.

The dog was found 12 hours later, according to evidence, in a ditch across the road from 8840 - 140 street property of Julien Hercheff.

Still alive but with compound fractures of the hind legs and in great pain, it was taken to the veterinary, who later advised that it be destroyed.

The dog owner, Mrs. Dora May James, 9627 - 150 street, said she hadn't seen her dog since the afternoon preceding the day it was found. Then a neighbor informed her the dog had been shot.

Hercheff had shot into the ground in front of two dogs about 8:30 p.m., May 15, to "frustrate them away." Hearing a yell, he investigated in the immediate vicinity of his three-toed property but found nothing, he claimed.

He said he had been incessantly bothered by dogs. They had killed five chickens and terrorized his small child, he claimed.

Man Picking Up Papers Finds Wind Cuts Capers

By Ken Liddell
Bulletin City Editor

Spent an entertaining time yesterday afternoon watching

This presentation of ultra-progress was at Jasper and 100th street and for all of that the fellow may be still at it.

He was aided by one broom, but outwitted by the wind. He wasn't outwittingly outwitted. Just outwitted. He couldn't keep pushing the papers, cigarette boxes and dust against the wind.

NICE PILE
When he got it all piled up, only place he could put it was in a street corner waste paper receptacle and he had to go against the wind to get to it.

It was worth watching, just to see what he did with the pile of papers that he did manage to get to the corner.

The pile was acceptable to the Calgary Power Ltd. to take over on Nov. 15. The reason for the delay is that a heavier wind will have to be put to the cylinder corner to give 6000 volts necessary to supply Westlock and Barrhead.

The line will then be connected to Barrhead. The new company will bring 22,000 volts to the extra voltage.

Rural districts are expected to be served from Barrhead. Low rates have been quoted and new appliances are expected to be installed in Barrhead.

City might even make price of the fellow's wages by selling advertising space on the bag. At that half block of papers, by this time I had to go to work. Never did find out who won.

SEEMED CONTENT
But this chap, like most of Edmonton, seemed content. Or maybe it was only exasperation that made him, after three trips, halt in his labor and watch the people building a quonset hut on the corner.

Then he took off for another go at that half block of papers. By this time I had to go to work. Never did find out who won.

NEWCOMERS
Newcomers to the city could be pardoned for wondering several things, two to wit:

(1) If the man was to pick up the dust, why did he not have a dust pan or, preferably, a dust bin on wheels?

(2) If he was solely in charge of picking up papers and let the practice, it would be comparatively simple to spear the paper and boxes and put them in the bag.

Fellow working that way could get around and see more of the

Bylaw Needs

Speed of Jasper Place bylaw making machinery was disclosed in police court yesterday when Jasper Place police chief Lawrence Kinney was prosecuting a witness resident arrested of doing into a neighbor's dog.

"Is there a law prohibiting discharge of firearms within city limits?" Magistrate McNeill asked.

"We passed one right after the dog got shot," Kinney replied.

You can still be prosecuted for failing to file your income tax return even if it has been filed.

This trial, a former real estate man was charged with failing to head an income tax department, demanded that he file a return.

The accused told the court he had already done so and that the Magistrate said even if the man did was the department's fault, a second return was not needed.

Magistrate J. W. McNeill was satisfied by one of his severest tests Wednesday.

The magistrate was releasing with a cigarette during a court session when the witness testified behind with an exposure.

The exposure, Magistrate McNeill said, was not needed. Court reporters, who have been "trained" regularly, just pointed him by one of the reporters.

Convict Thief

BARRHEAD, June 1.—Smart work on the part of Town Constable Baker and H.C.M.P. constable Mattson of Westlock detected resulted in the arrest of Walter Leitch of Barrhead, day and his conviction Monday.

He was sentenced to 24 years in jail on four charges of theft of cattle and will spend 12 months at P. Nakatshewan as sentence for conviction.

Farmers in the Manoka district had complained about losing cattle by the thief and the police with it. Mattson visited the stall of the most recent theft and got a good impression of the thief's trends but was not able to follow some all the way in account of rain.

On Saturday Constable Baker spotted a truck parked in front of a house, which was owned by Leitch.

Leitch was picked up for questioning but denied having anything to do with the theft. A woman neighbor said she had seen the truck parked in front of the farm of Leitch.

Leitch was taken to the jail and a new building.

Permanent Pleats Available by Yard

By Ben Thiffault

Problem of Pleats is a Thriftful introduction to Milady... and she's not too happy with it. Now mind, she loves the swirl of accordion pleats, the feeling of swishing freedom... but there's the cleaning and pressing situation to face.

Many cleaning establishments refuse to accept pleated goods... unless a label guarantees permanent pleating.

I have been pondering over this problem for many a moon. I think the answer to the pleat puzzle is "careful, selective shopping."

Be firm in your refusal of a fully pleated garment unless its pleats are lifelike.

Say lifelike, finely pleated in a rainbow of colors are accessory favorites... until cleaning time comes.

I know a sweet young thing who cherishes a skirt for its richness of color, but her cleaner refuses to accept it for fear of ruining the synthetic pleats.

Alas... and alas... what to do...

Still plodding along with the thought, I must tell you of the wonderful rayon acetate permanently pleated material selling at $2.95 a yard which varies in color.

Some pleated material sells in chalk, white, cream, brown, powder blue. When I first spotted it in the staple department of a local store I visualized a lovely, flowing evening gown of Grecian grace.

But the width of material puts a crimp in that plan. I shall have to use the pleated fabric for a skirt. I should think it would be a good idea to fashion the pleated skirt with a wider width for evening wear. But then a simple sheathlike dress, cap-sleeved and daisy-trimmed, will be an accessory masterpiece for your summer wardrobe.

Get right into fashion's charmed circle! Here is the skirt you must have! Gayest, gracefulst of skirts, specially adapted for a gracious dinner or picture party. Pattern only costs $2.95. ## YOUR BABY AND MINE

Family's Importance In Society Stressed

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It's a good idea, occasionally, to focus our attention upon the family and determine its importance and value in society.

When young people marry they think principally of the fun to be had together in being independent of relatives and therefore away from home.

But, along come a babe and a new home and the young people find themselves in a new situation. They are no longer independent of relatives and therefore away from home.

It is a good idea, occasionally, to focus our attention upon the family and determine its importance and value in society.

SHE'S WORKING at the rate of 130 calories per hour. What's your speed of calorie consumption?

WHY GROW OLD

Chopping Wood or Swimming Will Burn Up the Calories

By Josephine Lowman

The number of calories or the amount of food we need each day depends on several factors; the kind of work we do, our energy output, our build, and our age.

It is a well-known fact that a person who is active and energetic will burn up more calories than a person who is sedentary. This is why a person who is active and energetic will live longer than a person who is sedentary.

NEEDED CALORIES PER HOUR
At Home:
Sleeping	60 calories
Reading	50 calories
Writing	50 calories
Laundrying	375 calories
At Play:
Swimming	400 calories
Walking	135 calories
Dancing	270 calories

SWEEPING IS EASY
Sweeping, which seems like fairly hard work to the average housewife, does not take as many calories as walking and, in fact, is less than the calories burned in a single step.

Advantages and Drawbacks To the Life of Bachelors

Dear Miss Dix: What are the advantages of being a bachelor? What are the disadvantages of being one?

ANSWER: The principal advantage of being a bachelor is that you are free. You can come and go as you please. You do not have to push the house time clock. You do not have to rack your brain thinking up alibis when you stay downtown to play poker with the boys.

If you want to stay at home on a evening and read, well, and good. If you want to step out, also, well, and good. You are your own master.

You can spend your money on a vacation and read, well, and good. If you want to step out, also, well, and good. You are your own master.

CAN TAKE MORE CHANCES
Kipling says "he travels the fastest who travels alone." The bachelor can give up a poor job on the chance of getting a better one. The married man can take no such risk. The single man has many doors of opportunity opened to him that are shut to the married man. He can go to many places to which he could not take a family.

There are some of the advantages that the bachelor enjoys. Some of the drawbacks are that, while he is free, even freedom has a price tag on it that makes it more than a little costly.

It is true that he can go as far as he pleases without being bothered by his wife. But the married man has many doors of opportunity opened to him that are shut to the bachelor. He can go to many places to which he could not take a family.
